DATASHEET

Making Inspections Simple

Many regulatory bodies require organizations to have a completed physical security inspection every year, which have historically been done by third party vendors. Having a security expert come onsite and complete these inspections can be costly, so we decided to find a way for companies to do these easily without a big price tag. Tracelnspect is a tablet-based application that allows any authorized employee to complete unlimited physical security inspections on their own, and generate reports to prove compliance. We even send you the tablet with the app pre-loaded!

No Expertise Required

Tracelnspect was created with cybersecurity expertise built in. The app will walk you through a series of questions relating to physical security with language that doesn't require extensive IT or cybersecurity knowledge.

As you walk through your space, you'll be able to take pictures of physical security controls and tag them to certain questions, giving proof that these controls are in place. Each question will direct you to a specific area of your organization that requires physical security controls, such as office doors and server rooms. They will also provide the type of security control they are looking for, including visitor logs and door with key card entry.

Stay Secure

If you don't have certain physical security control implemented, this is a great opportunity to perform an initial inspection of your organization, implement any missing controls, and then run successive inspections to show improvement. And if you have any change in your physical security measures, you can perform additional inspections to show proof of your new solution.

With the ability to perform unlimited inspections on your own time, you can leverage Tracelnspect as much or as little as you need without being held to vendor timelines. You can run reports on your own right from the app to prove your physical security controls to boards and examiners.

Tracelnspect Gives You:

- ✓ 1 free tablet with the Tracelnspect app pre-loaded
- ✓ The ability to perform unlimited physical security inspections at your location(s)
- ✓ Comprehensive reporting for each physical security inspection
